

WHAT IS RECYCLED ART?

Ever wonder what happened to that old trombone discarded long ago, or your mother's stash of buttons, or that pair of water skis stored at the cottage since 1962?

In the hands of an artist, recycled trash is transformed into new creations. Stylistically diverse, these works incorporate reclaimed objects: an old book, bottle caps, a lobster float, propane cylinders, and a plethora of junk yard treasures.

examples that follow are from ReVision artists and may not be reproduced without written consent

Hot Metal Daisies

by
Ron Simmer

72in x 36in
100% recycled

spent fire
extinguishers, car
engine block,
flexible air conduit,
hub cap

detail from
Blue Moon
by
Janet Lee

12in x 10in x 3in
100% recycled

frame corner
sample, trumpet,
sheet music,
jewellery

Walleye
by
Launi Lucas

21in x 11in x 5in
100% recycled

wooden lobster
buoy, paint
scrappers,
vegetable peeler,
sprinkler head, golf
tees, miscellaneous
hardware

Close Your Eyes
and Think About a Place You Want
To Go

by
Rachael Ashe

11in x 14in
100% recycled

rusted bed springs,
lovebird tail
feathers, drift glass,
black thread,
Japanese paper,
book

Aerial Lamp

by
Luci Lytle

10in x 10in x 24in
95% recycled

corrugated boxes,
aerial photo
negatives, porcelain
lamp socket,
electrical wiring

detail from
Musical Fountain
by
Doug Walker

72in x 24in
85% recycled

recycled musical
instruments: brass
fragments from
clarinet, trumpet,
trombones

detail from
Shoe Fly
by
Graham Eagle

26in x 54in x 48in
100% recycled

wooden shutters,
children's shoes,
medical bag,
wooden spoons,
coat hangers

Edwardian
Evening Gown
by
Tam Harrington

60in x 54in
100% recycled

vegetable
steamers, steel,
tin, aluminum